Building a Robust, Sustainable, and Equitable Local Food System

Newsletter | March | 2022

Farmer of the Month:

Bill Fosher of Edgefield Farm has been raising sheep for 30 years. His experience, coupled with ingenuity, is a prime example of sustainable farming and land stewardship. Edgefield Farm's sheep are raised on hills above the Connecticut River on intensively managed pasture. They are not fed grain or given any growth-promoting drugs. As a result, Edgefield Farm's lamb takes longer to grow than grocery-store lamb. It's this slower process that lets the lamb develop a rich, complex flavor that simply can't be rushed. The grazing system that Edgefield Farm uses to produce lamb enhances soil health and actually sequesters more carbon than their sheep and farming operations emit! While wild predators pose a real danger to sheep, Bill prefers to use non-lethal methods to protect his animals. His Newfoundland dog, Leo, with help from portable electrified netting, wards off coyotes, bears, and stray domesticated dogs. In three decades of raising sheep on pasture, Bill has never had to resort to killing a predator. To experience whole or ground lamb, contact Edgefield Farm.

Maple sugar season means baby animals and Spring have arrived! (Well, Spring is right around the corner, anyway). Enjoy a visit to a sugar shack -- the Monadnock Region abounds with locations to experience a maple sugar boil or breakfast! Find out where to go.

Many farm stands stay open throughout the year - always check their websites for days/times. Scroll down (Farm Stands) to see which ones will be open, offering a wide variety of food products.

Spotlights of the Month:

Monadnock Earth Day Film Festival line-up is announced! Mark your calendars, join us for this FREE, online event! (For more details, go to "Forums" below.)

"Farm Free or Die", Wednesday, April 19, 2022, 6:30pm. This short documentary highlights market opportunities for carbon sequestration and removal. Introduction by Roger Sorkin, director and writer.

"Growing with the Grain" Thursday, April 20, 2022, 6:30pm. Scientists, farmers, bakers and brewers take part in a grain trial test that hopes to produce a new generation of grain suited for the northeast. Short documentary. Panel discussion - is a grain shed in the Monadnock Region's future?

"Farmer Cee", Friday, April 21, 2022. This short documentary highlights Clarendia "Cee" Stanley, an African American farmer and CEO/President of Green Heffa Farms. Panel discussion.

A Fund to Support: The goal of our Locals' Local Fund is to raise 10k annually to purchase local products for distribution on The Community Kitchen's Monadnock Mobile Food Pantry. A soft launch of this vital initiative will take place this summer with six, pop-up events located at sites identified in the coalition's Monadnock Local Food Access Analysis, last year.

MFCC was awarded the opportunity to jumpstart the "Locals' Local Fund" on The Local Crowd Monadnock platform. In order to launch this crowdfunding campaign, we need your help to raise 1/3 or $3333 prior to its initiation. Please donate today and get local onto the plates of all Monadnock's community members! Checks can be sent to: 11 Industrial Park Dr., Walpole, NH. 03608, memo: Locals' Local Fund. Thank you.

Monadnock Earth Day Festival is back in person! April 23, 2022 at the Monadnock Food Co-op. (More details below under "Events")

Policy updates:

SB403 re-establish the WIC Farmers' Market Nutrition Program (FMNP) - "ought to pass" a House vote.

HB 1657 the Local Food for Local Schools Reimbursement Bill did not pass. Look to see again in the future and help us build support for this initiative that would move $1.8 Federal dollars into our farm and food economy.

Harvest of the Month

Beets! This recipe will make even those who scoff at beets, believers in this beautiful root vegetable.
4-6 servings

Ingredients

3 lbs beets (scrubbed and trimmed, leaving 1 inch of stems attached)
 1/4 cup balsamic vinegar
 2 Tbsp. maple syrup or honey
 2 Tbsp. olive or canola oil
 1/2 tsp. dried thyme, or 1 tsp. minced fresh thyme (optional)

Directions

1. In a large pot, cover beets with lightly salted water by 1 inch. Cover and simmer for 35-45 minutes or until tender. Drain beets in a colander. Let cool until they can be handled, then slip off skins and stems.
2. Cut beets lengthwise into wedges. Beets may be prepared to this point up to two days in advance. Cover and chill. If prepped and refrigerated, bring beets to room temperature before proceeding.
3. In a large skillet, stir together vinegar, honey or syrup, and oil. Add beets. Cook beet mixture over moderate heat stirring until heated through and well coated.
4. Add salt and pepper to taste, sprinkle with thyme, and toss gently.
